3. TEST STATUS BOARD - First flight test of the J-75 engine will be 18 May.

4. MALFUNCTION REPORT - Of paramount importance in this report was the fact that B Cameras are continuing to function consistently; on the other hand, Trackers are beginning to malfunction. It is thought that this is due to the vintage of the camera as well as the fact that Trackers run much more frequently than any of the other photo equipment. Some of the malfunctioning has been due to power failure resulting from maladjustment. reported that on his current trip to field installations is checking the Tracker malfunction problem and upon return will co-relate his findings with

Col. Burke suggested that one B Camera be moved, on a temporary basis, from Det. C to Det. B. It was pointed out that it would not be desirable to leave it there for any long period since it would run up Det. B's maintenance needs. On the other hand, it is for the "fast move" concept that it seemed indicated. Col. Beerli's opinion will be sought in this matter.
